TEST YOUR KNOWLEDGE

What is Intuitive Animal Communication?

Select True (T) or False (F) for each question.

#	Question	True	False
1	In intuitive animal communication, messages are conveyed telepathically between humans and animals, bypassing physical senses like hearing vocalizations or observing body language.
2	Intuitive animal communication is not a new concept, but the number of professional animal communicators has increased significantly in the last 50 years.
3	The intuitive animal communication field does not yet have a national organization and certification process like pet groomers and pet sitters.
4	In Soul Level Animal Communication® the animal is asked questions to identify the soul lesson they are teaching you, the behavior they are using to teach the lesson, how you can work with them to learn the lesson, and the changes that will occur in your relationship as the lesson is learned.
5	Intuitive animal communication is about reconnecting with an innate ability we all possess. You don't need special psychic gifts or a childhood history of communicating with animals. Anyone, regardless of age, can cultivate this ability.
6	We are always transmitting information to our pets, and you are probably receiving intuitive information from them without realizing it.
7	Animal communication can be learned from books, online events/classes, in-person events/classes, mentoring from a professional communicator, and from the animals themselves.
8	Research into Intuitive Animal Communication is growing. International symposia held in 2022 and 2023 highlighted ongoing research and encouraged collaboration among academics, indigenous knowledge keepers, and animal professionals.

How does Intuitive Animal Communication 'Work'?

Select True (T) or False (F) for each question.

#	Question	True	False
14	Intuitive animal communication is possible with all species of animals, whether domesticated or wild, including animals we call 'pests'.
15	In Intuitive animal communication, respect for the animal and their boundaries are key; the communicator will ask the animal for permission to talk with them.
16	Intuitive animal communicators can connect with individual animals and also the collective consciousness of a species.
17	Intuitive animal communication can be practiced with animals who are in a body and those who have died.
18	Intuitive animal communicators use different methods for connecting with animals; some may request pictures of the animal, and others do not.
19	Physical distance between the animal and the communicator does not reduce the effectiveness of intuitive animal communication.
20	Intuitive animal communication sessions can be conducted in person, remotely by phone or Zoom, or via email where clients send their questions to the communicator, and the communicator replies with the animal's responses.
21	intuitive animal communication sessions typically last 15 to 60 minutes and range in price from $40 to several hundred dollars.
22	Some animal communicators recommend clients wait for a period of time (often 1 week to 1 month) before scheduling a session to communicate with a deceased pet.
23	Your animal does not need to be present with you during an intuitive animal communication session.

Select True (T) or False (F) for each question.

#	Question	True	False
24	You don't need to prepare your pet for an intuitive animal communication session, but it is helpful for you to prepare for the session by thinking about your intention for the session and questions you want to ask, arranging to be in a quiet place free from distractions, and being open-minded.
25	During an intuitive animal communication session, the communicator becomes receptive, connects with the animal, relays questions from the client and receives responses, shares the information with the client and obtains their feedback, and closes the session.
26	Intuitive animal communication is a two-way process.
27	Intuitive animal communicators send information to the animal using mental pictures/movies, thoughts/words, emotions, physical sensations, tastes, and smells.
28	The intuitive animal communicator receives information from the animal in the form of mental pictures/movies, thoughts/words, emotions, physical sensations, smells, tastes, and information they just 'know'.
29	The information received in intuitive animal communication can be literal or symbolic/metaphorical.
30	Intuitive animal communicators translate the information they receive from the animal into words they share with the human client; the client determines whether the information makes sense to them and whether and how to apply the information.
31	It is possible to confirm or validate some of the information received during intuitive animal communication.
32	Intuitive animal communicators do not predict the future.

#	Question	True	False
33	When working with an intuitive animal communicator, it may require more than one session to address specific issues between you and your pet.
34	When two intuitive animal communicators receive different information from your pet it does not necessarily mean that one of them is wrong.
35	Intuitive animal communicators can ask animals any type of question, such as about their life before you adopted them, but the animal decides whether to answer and what information to provide.
36	Although intuitive information can seem like it is your imagination, it is not; professional animal communicators learn to distinguish their thoughts and imagination from the information they receive from the animal.
37	Human thoughts, emotions, beliefs, and skepticism can influence the outcome of intuitive animal communication.
38	If the information received during intuitive animal communication does not immediately make sense to the client, the communicator can ask the animal for clarification.
39	Sometimes the intuitive information received from the animal does not make sense to the client until after the session has ended.
40	In intuitive animal communication, the animal leads the conversation.

How Can Intuitive Animal Communication Help You & Your Pet?

Select True (T) or False (F) for each question.

#	Question	True	False
49	Some intuitive animal communicators offer other services such as connecting with trees/plants /nature, energy healing, pet grief support, animal artwork, oracle card readings, psychic readings, and mediumship, among others.
50	In intuitive animal communication you can learn why your animal is in your life and what lessons they are helping you learn.

1 In intuitive animal communication, messages are conveyed telepathically between humans and animals, bypassing physical senses like hearing vocalizations or observing body language.

T

TRUE. While interpreting vocalizations and body language is a part of understanding animals, intuitive animal communication goes beyond these physical cues.

Intuitive animal communication is a practice that involves establishing a telepathic connection with animals, allowing for the direct exchange of thoughts, feelings, images, and other information beyond the limitations of verbal language and our five senses. It is a way to bridge the communication gap between humans and animals, tapping into our innate ability to connect with other sentient beings on a deeper level.

It involves quieting the mind, entering a meditative state, and establishing a heart-centered connection with the animal. Through this connection, information is exchanged energetically. It is a language of the heart and soul.

Intuitive animal communication allows humans to understand an animal's needs, emotions, and thoughts and can facilitate a stronger bond and mutual understanding between humans and animals.

2 Intuitive animal communication is not a new concept, but the number of professional animal communicators has increased significantly in the last 50 years.

T

TRUE. While its recognition in modern society might be relatively recent, the concept of intuitive animal communication is ancient. Many indigenous cultures around the world have long practiced intuitive communication with animals (and also plants and the elements) as part of their spiritual and cultural beliefs.

However, since the 1970s, the number of professional animal communicators has increased significantly.

MJ Barrett and colleagues reported the results of an environmental scan of animal communicator websites at the 2022 International Multispecies Methods Research Symposium: Shifting Paradigms in Human-Animal Relations. They found animal communicators with English-language websites on all continents except Antarctica, with the largest number found in the US, UK, Canada, and Australia. Many of them have been in practice for 10 to 30 years and some for 40-58 years.

One of the early professional animal communicators, Penelope Smith, has written several books, trained numerous students, and created a code of ethics for the profession.
